

September 20th Sunday Rune and Card Reading

Reading no. 1 – Opalite Angel.

Opalite is said to improve communication skills including our ability to communicate fluently with ourselves. For anyone struggling to find a voice this powerful and radiant stone will support and assist.

Aligning all Chakras and Meridians, Opalite supports persistence with the strength to successfully verbalise underlying feelings.

I love the energy of Opalite! For me, it's visual radiance sums up its power and energy, offering the right and entitlement to find my voice whilst holding a position of deep felt respect for others to do the same. One of my top Crystals for the pathway of the Spiritual Warrior.

Reading no. 2 – Cherry Quartz Angel.

Cherry quartz is said to increase our overall energy and bring a shift in our fortune, releasing us from any form of stagnant or stuck situation, enabling us to move forwards and to better any situation.

For me, this little cherry quartz angel radiates energy. It feels buoyant, positive and overflowing with optimism.

I have always felt that its energy seems to align perfectly with 'Ehwaz' the Rune of Movement which implies the bettering of any situation and of circumstances moving forwards and gathering momentum.

Reading no. 3 – Green Aventurine.

Sometimes known as the stone of good luck, Green Aventurine literally radiates warmth and comfort. Whenever I use this beautiful stone I feel as though a rich warm blanket is placed around my shoulders and if I am doing a reading it is as if I am sitting in a bubble of healing and tranquillity. Hardly surprising that it is also known to aid our connection with the divine, bringing clarity and vision.

It is said to remove energy blocks and is particularly beneficial for the healing of any emotional issues as well as our physical organs. It is also said to help draw in New Love in later life.

The Archangel that came forward for this reading was Archangel Jophial, who helps us to clear energy, both within us and in the space around us, relieving stress and creating a flow of energy that brings healing, creativity and new ideas.
